

Association of Neurophysiology Scientists of Australia Inc.

(also known as ANSA, formerly ANTA)

ABN: 80 872 615 302

IARN: A0821425J

www.ansa.org.au

Suggested Training Pathway Clinical Neurophysiological Technologist/Scientist

Professional Entry Point:

New Graduate/Trainee Clinical Neurophysiology Technologist/Scientist

- o Complete a Bachelor of Biomedical Science/Medical Science with major components of human anatomy and physiology (or equivalent).

On employment:

Any of the following-

- o Enrol in and complete an ANSA Inc. endorsed Clinical Neurophysiology theory component.
- o Enrol in and complete an ANSA Inc. endorsed training package offered by a Registered Training Organisation to assess practical competence in one or more Clinical Neurophysiology test(s) to include at least Performing EEG competence.
- o Work towards and complete ANSA Inc. Competency Assessment in at least Performing EEG (when available). This would include in-house work place training in accordance with ANSA Inc. Competency statements -EEG

Further Professional Development:

- o Enrol in and complete ANSA Inc. endorsed training package offered by a Registered Training Organisation to assess practical competence in other Clinical Neurophysiology test procedures such as Evoked Potentials (EP), Intra-operative Monitoring (IO), Nerve Conduction Studies (NCS) (when available).
- o Work towards and complete ANSA Inc. endorsed Competency Assessment in other Clinical Neurophysiology Test Procedures. Such as EP, NCS or IOM. This would include in-house training in accordance with the ANSA Inc. Competency Statements – BAEP, VEP, SSEP; NCS, IOM (when developed)
- o Complete Additional Studies
eg. Management studies, Educator studies, post graduate Clinical Neurophysiology studies.